

Jorge E. Castex is Managing Director of International Conference Services, the Netherlands and President of Congresos Internacionales S.A. in Argentina and Chile. He has been responsible for over 510 international and national congresses. Until 2005 Jorge was Chairman of the ICMT Committee (Institute for Congress Management Training of IAPCO – International Association of Professional Congress Organizers, with headquarters in Brussels), and Member of the World Trade Center Association. His past activities include acting as consultant for the United Nations Organization and various international and national associations. He has been President of IAPCO twice, as well as President of JMIC (Joint Meetings Industry Council). Jorge received the JMIC Unity Award in 2003 for his contribution to the meetings industry.